Good readers use what they know to help them understand what they read.

Make a connection to something in your life, something else you’ve read, or something you know about the world.

Good readers use what they know to help them understand what they read.

Make a connection to something in your life, something else you’ve read, or something you know about the world.

Make a connection to something in your life, something else you’ve read, or something you know about the world.

Book reviews
resources
app reviews
literacy
learning
literature
tips for parents
and educators

The Book Chook
www.thebookchook.com